CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Another gruesome phase of the murder of Suzanne Degnan, six, kidnapped, killed and dismembered Jan. 7, developed yesterday when human ear was received by mail at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Degnan. Sgt. Philip Breske, head of the police homicide squad, said the head of little Suzanne, which with other parts of the body was found in sewer catch basins, had both ears and therefore the police were dismissing yesterday's weird exhibit from the investigation and turning it over to postoffice inspectors.

Later, Breske said the ear was wrapped in tissue paper in a three-by-three-inch box done up in brown wrapping paper with no markings on it other than the address. It was mailed in Chicago. He said policemen on duty at the Degnan home opened the package to find a human ear.

Meanwhile Detective Chief Walter Storms said he and other officials had questioned two young men who had telephoned calls made to the Degnan home over a 9 a.m. Jan. 7. Her father discovered she was missing at 5:30 p.m. Chief Storms, identifying the two men as Joseph J. and Theodore Campbell, 22, said they told him they telephoned the Degnan home to see if they could get a reward for information. He said they made no statements concerning them with a crime file. There were no charges made against them, and they will be released.

Special Cameras to Record Atom-Bombing of Warships

By W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Cameras on top of 100-foot steel towers, arranged in a ring around the warships in Bikini Atoll, will photograph the navy's atomic bomb tests this summer.

THE CAMERAS will be automatically operated by remote control by radio on a distant ship. Other cameras will take pictures from airplanes flying at safe distances. Such arrangements are being made by remote control, pilotless, will carry cameras closer than the manned planes.

The arrangements were announced yesterday, with approval of the Navy Security office in Washington, by the Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corporation, which will supply cameras and radio and electric equipment for the cross-country photography.

THE TOWER CAMERAS will be in batteries, with several islands surrounding the enclosure of atomic waters. The instruments will be housed in small rooms, each shielded against X-rays and other radioactive rays from an atomic bomb explosion.

Special pains will be taken to prevent the heat of the explosive blast from burning the film. This heat will be millions of degrees Fahrenheit. Although the cameras on the ring of towers will be from five to 10 miles from the target, the sensitive film might be damaged by the hot flash. Such damage occurred in the first two frames of photographs taken in New Mexico of the first atomic explosion.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT says it may be several weeks after the test before any human is allowed near the cameras house on account of radioactivity of the water.

THE SUGGESTION that water be incorporated with the sewer project brought a lively discussion among the more than 40 present. According to the figures presented at the meeting, the sewer project would cost $40,428, plus approximately $35,000 for the water project. The total cost would be $75,428 for 30 years. To pay for it, a frontage tax of ten cents per foot plus an increase in tax millage of 2 1/2 mills would have to be imposed. Service charge to each subscriber would be $9 per year.

On the water project, cost would be approximately $200,000 for the capital charges, including interest, capital repayment, and operational costs, would be $175 for 30 years. To pay for it, an additional ten-cent frontage tax and a 2 1/2 millage jump in taxes would be necessary, plus a charge to each consumer of $4 per month on a flat rate basis providing approximately 40 gallons per day.

The Public Confidence

THE LONDON LIFE is now trustee for over three-quarters of a million policyholders. The extent of the confidence placed in it during the past year can be measured in part by the purchase of $138,300,000 new life insurance. The total amount of insurance in force is $1,133,000,000—an increase of $98,914,000. It is noteworthy that the quest by Canadians for financial security resulted in an increase of half a billion dollars of life insurance in this company during the war years.

This record of growth has meant a corresponding increase in the company's obligations to policyholders—size being a measure of responsibility. The assets amount to $226,229,000—a sum sufficient to meet all the obligations of the company and provide a wide margin of security. Surplus funds for the added protection of policyholders total $18,460,000.

Money invested in life insurance has rightly been termed "double duty dollars". While it provides the policyholder with the desired financial protection for himself and his family, it is invested in ways that are most valuable to the country.

During the war the company invested $145,000,000 in Victory Bonds—a sum more than 50% greater than the increase in the assets for the period of the war. In the days that lie ahead, funds held for the future benefit of policyholders will be used to aid the transition from war to peace; to assist people to build or buy homes; to aid business and industrial enterprise and to finance public works.

A determining factor in the attainment of its present position has been the loyalty and efficiency of the sales representatives of the company. The high quality of their work as life insurance counsellors has been of great value to their clients.

Public confidence in the London Life has been created by its record for low cost, financial strength and skilled staff. In these important considerations the company is building also for the years ahead—an assurance of continued satisfaction to policyholders.

Based on Production

The social security plan of Great Britain, written around the famous report by Sir William Beveridge, is being implemented by legislation and its earliest provisions have already made the United Kingdom one of the most advanced countries in the world in respect of an equitable division of the national income.

Certainly the social security of Britain is far ahead of that of Canada. It is not a perfect system, by any means, but compared with the social security of the United States, it is only a year behind, in earnest, with David Lloyd George in 1909, the accomplishments are remarkable.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that, unlike the experience of certain other countries, notably the United States, the re-education of the British people has been accompanied by amazingly little class bitterness. There has been feeling, and lots of it, when Lloyd George began his crusade. But today the business of establishing the right of the individual to a share in the fruits of production has been accepted as axiomatic, and in the legislative implementation of the Beveridge report, which really marks a tremendous advance in social evolution, has taken place with hardly a ripple of class feeling.

The Beveridge plan and the social security legislation which has arisen from it are remarkable not for the details of its distribution but for the fact that it is based on the fundamental truth of the nation's wealth is not national wealth is no more than national production.

Two principles are true in every system; first, that everyone must contribute something to the welfare of the entire group, and second, that everybody should get a fair share of the total production of the group. Britain's attempt, then, to establish social security merely means that she is cutting the pie of national income into fairer slices. That is not a new idea. It is a tried before. But what does represent a new departure in social security legislation is the attempt to create a bigger pie so that all the slices will be larger.

In other words, Britain aims at a full pie which means full production and thus, eventually, full employment. In this respect, the production of the four corners of the British social security plan is admirable primarily for the essential soundness of its premises.

Working Toward Stability

There is an assured market in Britain for Canadian wheat for the next two years, and negotiations are proceeding hopefully for a four-year contract at a fixed price. This is a good news brought by the return of Mr. A. MacKinnon on his return from London.

Equally good, though less in degree, is the assurance that France does not intend to go back to the pre-war policy of giving heavy subsidies for home produced wheat. While this assurance is not a positive guarantee that it will stand, France has agreed to spend on anti-famine schemes of nationalistic self-sufficiency.

The Canadian farmer is not the only man who can take satisfaction in this prospect that wheat exports are being stabilized over term of years. Taxpayers of other classes are also entitled to a good deal of satisfaction. They would have to help make good the floor price to the grower should the wheat market collapse during the next five years.

There is no chance that sales in Britain—plus sales in France—will absorb the whole exportable surplus from Canada in any favourable season. The wheat-growing wheat-growing in Canada is a steady occupation that it has been in for a long time.

Why the Scarcities

The national association of construction men held a convention in Winnipeg a week or so ago, when the delegates from the organized builders could not put more than 20,000 houses in all Canada in a year. They are being given a chance now to find out why.

The official stressed scarcity of materials and scarcity of skilled tradesmen in setting a limit to the nation's house-building program. Hon. C. D. Howe announces now that a committee of the association members is being set up, to study the causes of construction materials are so scarce, and why there are not more trained carpenters and other building mechanics.

Only one fault can be found with this. The action could with advantage have been taken sooner, and the findings of the committee must have been made much earlier. But as men engaged in construction are already intimately in touch with conditions, the committee report may be ready in time for parliament to take any action that may be necessary at the coming session.

Construction firms stand to benefit if building materials can be expanded, and will be if they are restricted. It may be supposed therefore that the committee will get to work without delay, will investigate the causes of the materials and man-power shortages thoroughly, and will say why it is that house-building cannot get ahead in reasonable relation to the demand and the urgency.

Just a Coincidence?

It is to be noted that the prospect of getting the steel industry going again in the United States brightened over the same week that the Canadian government took control of the packing plants, the employees flock back to their jobs, and the packing industry starts functioning.

Perhaps it is just coincidence, but it may have been something more. The head of the U.S. steel corporation and the head of its striking employees both got to Washington the day after the Government took over the packing plants. It is not at all fanciful to suppose the leaders foresaw similar official action to unlock the jam in the steel industry.

That was a fair inference. In fact it was a logical follow-up, and an economic necessity. For the steel mills are even more important to the nation's economy than the packing plants. Without their product, factories must close all across the country. That is the reason why the steel industry, in the one case, would take similar action in the other was an almost inescapable conclusion.

If that is what brightened the outlook for a settlement of the steel tie-up, it is foreseeable that Government seizure will become the established rule where an industry threatens to stop production for a prolonged stoppage of production. If the threat of this, or expectation of it, tends to prevent such tie-ups so much the better.

A nineteen-year-old girl who claimed to be Hitler's daughter has been judged insane. She must have been.

Having contacted the moon by radar, scientists are now promising that we will get better weather forecasts. But a wase ago some of them were telling us very emphatically that the moon had nothing to do with the weather! Is this another instance of the confusing influence of those sun spots?

Canada's Government-owned wartime merchant fleet came through the war with only three ships out of 145 lost by enemy action. It has to be taken into account that the fleet was built up in a very short time, and were in operation during only varying periods. Despite this the showing is far better than might have been expected. So the Canadian fleet, for only sixteen men, were lost in the three torpedoes.

Today In Europe

But Hardly Likely That British Government Will Take Action Which Would Debar Right of Free Speech

By Randolph Churchill

LONDON—Tentative moves by Sir Oswald Mosley to stage a political comeback have caused much amusement in the British public, particularly those still serving in the armed forces. The idea that the same political doctrine against which they are fighting should be brought back to the attention of the public is a laughable one.

The Communist Party, on the other hand, are delighted, since it gives them an opportunity to rant and rave against Fascism and, in the process, to suggest a new program.

CHURCHILL
The British public are not a Communist, but they are a Fascist.

Sir Oswald Mosley has been made a laughing stock by his own people. He has been made a laughing stock by his own people. He has been made a laughing stock by his own people.

It has been argued that political rights and free speech could reasonably be withheld from those who only wish to use them in order to bring about the activities of "The Flame." And now, a "Kissing Bug" appears. Do we really wish to see the destruction of the press and the freedom of speech?

The police dealt with "The Flame" and the Department of Health dealt with the "Kissing Bug." The police dealt with "The Flame" and the Department of Health dealt with the "Kissing Bug."

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(BUP)—Victims of old murderers' row haunted the American League Tuesday as Bill Dickey came back to the New York Yankees. They thought two years ago that they had seen the last of the iron man catcher from Bostrop, La.

That was the October day in September's Park when the Yankee came back to the fifth game of the world series needing but one victory to gain revenge over the high-flying St. Louis Cardinals. It was a game came up to the sixth inning, with Mott Cooper at bat and the Yankees leading 3-2. The Sox were blowing down the Bronx Bombers. Then, with two away, Charlie Keller singled through the infield and Dickey came to bat.

He looked at a couple and then Bill Dickey Cooper laid his high hand down the line. The Sox ball hit the roof of the right field grandstand and the Yankees had the two runs which won the series.

THE FOLLOWING March, big Ben went into the city as a lieutenant and eventually managed a small team at Pearl Harbor. Meanwhile as the Yankees watched two of the baseball classics from a unfamiliar position on the sidelines, reports trickled back to the city that the big catcher had started in right world series was through with baseball. Dickey, they said, was done and wanted to manage a minor league team.

But the bulky guy who had created a major league record by catching 100 or more games through 13 consecutive seasons, and whose reports at last Tuesday as he was retained on the active list and prepared to sign a contract for his 15th season with the Yankees.

"I DEFINITELY WANT to play baseball," said Dickey, his grey eyes sparkling. "I'm anxious to be back in harness—and I mean in the harness."

It came as a real baseball surprise, for his Bill is over the hill in the catching department. He will be 39 next June and that makes him a graveyard among active players, particularly in the strenuous business behind the plate. But Dickey doesn't see it that way.

"Why shouldn't I play?" he asks. "I feel fine and I am in good shape. Of course, I don't mean to say I'll catch 100 games but I'll do my best and that should be something."

IT WILL INSURE The Yankees have a catching surplus with Mike Garbar, who did most of the catching last year; Aaron Robinson, who came back from the coast; and last season's star, the dour, Ken Sears, also out of the new, and Bill Dickey, but none of these pretend to have the savvy or finesse that Dickey could be called upon to give the Yankees in a short and crucial series.

The six foot, two inch veteran has been around a long time. He had been in organized baseball four years when he became a Yankee regular in 1920 and one of the foremost members of old murderers' row. And down through the years and the numerous world series which followed, Dickey always was one of the brightest stars.

Electric Plant Is Latest Move Of Modern North

Alkavik, last largest outpost of Canadian civilization on the broad Mackenzie River delta near the Arctic, is to have a modern, central electric power plant.

DAVE STIRTON, district traffic manager for the C.P. Rail Lines, Mackenzie district, who has just returned from an aerial inspection tour of northern air line offices, said that when the Alkavik power plant is built, it will be the largest of its kind in the north. The plant, which will be built on a large central power plant for the town as soon as the equipment can be obtained.

Hospitals, schools and business firms will enjoy the power from the plant by degrees.

UP UNTIL NOW, Alkavik has had to obtain all electrical power used from individual plants, either gas-line-driven, or through wind-charges.

Another indication of modernization taking place in Alkavik is the big crowds attending movie shows held three weeks in the hotel.

THE AUDIENCES, largely Indian and Eskimo but they go for the modern flickers in a big way. Mr. Stirton attended a show while at Alkavik recently. The picture was "Commander in the Snow". The most exciting thing in the show to the natives was the appearance of a huge ocean liner. As customed to small Mackenzie river craft the natives had never seen a live such a large boat really could exist.

Alkavik has a population of about 350. There are two good-sized, well-equipped hospitals, operated by the Roman Catholic Church and the Anglican Church.

Camrose Ties 5-5

In Stettler Game

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

STETTNER, Jan. 30.—The Imperial earned a 5-5 tie with the Camrose Maroons in a regular Central Alberta Hockey League game played before 700 fans here Tuesday night. The Stettler club made up entirely of local talent played to beat Camrose, a team and two shot goals robbed it of a clean-cut victory.

Stettler led 3-1 at the end of the first period. The game was 11 minutes old when Good scored on a relay from Hudonstone, and Coetigan. He repeated 5 minutes later on the best play of the night from Coetigan. Patrick from Banford and Pinder gave the Stettler a three-goal margin at the 19-minute mark. At 20:30 Jim Richardson, Camrose speedster, netted a long shot that never left the ice and was hidden from Robertson's view.

CAMROSE CAME back strongly in the second period and took goals from Duchsack and Roberts tied the 3-3 at 30:30 with the period about half over. Duchsack's goal was a gift from outside the blue-line. Stettler took the lead again at 14:30 on a pretty play with Banford.

The final 20 minutes of play was played at a furious clip. At 1:00 Camrose tied up the game 4-4 when Robertson scored from Duchsack. Camrose tied the game for the first time after a beautiful three-way passing play with Duchsack and Roberts at 16:30. With three minutes left to play, Stettler won on the pressure and many tied the game at 19 minutes mark on a pass from Hudonstone.

How Scotland handles its juvenile delinquents formed the theme of a film shown to members of the Commission club at the new theatre in the Corona hotel Tuesday by H. P. Brown of the department of extension, University of Alberta, who is one of the club members.

Street urchins in some of the larger cities of that country are turned by environment to a life of crime, the pictures showed, but when the youngster first runs afoul of the law he is hailed, with his parents, before a delinquency court. There the youthful criminal are given tests which indicate the type of work for which each is suited. Every effort is made from there on to establish them in a trade or a job in which they may become useful members of Society.

Special Envoy

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Florentino H. LaGuardia, former Mayor of New York City, named by President Truman as a special United States envoy for the inauguration Thursday of Maj. Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra as president of Brazil, arrived here by plane yesterday.

Loyal Edmonton Veterans Form Guard of Honor

Men of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment who served under Gen. H. G. Crerar in Italy and later in Western Europe, will form a guard of honor on the occasion of Gen. Crerar's visit here Feb. 11.

THE MEN OF THE Edmonton will have this signal honor as a result of a direct request from the general who has intimated he would like to have as many men as possible who served under him overseas, meet him at the station on his arrival here.

Plans are now underway for lining up the guard to be composed of about 50 men and NCO's with as many former officers of the regiment as can turn out. The guard will be under command of Maj. J. A. Dougan, MC.

AS THE REGIMENT has been disbanded for months, some difficulty may be experienced in obtaining proper uniforms and equipment. For this reason a parade of former officers and other ranks of the regiment has been called for next Monday night, 30, in the Prince of Wales Armoury. Dress for the parade is breeches, light dress, bow ties and white boots. Additional equipment needed will be borrowed from the Edmonton garrison.

THE EDMONTON Regiment first came under the command of Gen. Crerar at Brancello, Italy, when the general was placed in command of the 1st Canadian Army Corps in the fall of 1943.

Later the Regiment served under him in Western Europe when Gen. Crerar was in command of the First Canadian Army.

Gyros View Film Of Alaska Road

Rivers, forests, boulders, chasms, mountains—almost every impediment known—yielded to mankind's war-stimulated resourcefulness and ingenuity during the building of the Alaska Highway. It was shown in the official film of the United States government, viewed Tuesday by members of the Gyro club at their dinner meeting in the Macdonald hotel.

The technical film was shown by permission of Lt. Col. L. B. Markov of the United States army who was a guest of the club at the meeting. Next meeting the Gyros will deal with club business. There will be no special speaker or entertainment. It was reported by Roy Miller, secretary. Alf Noak, president, chairman at Tuesday's meeting.

Court Permits Music School To Carry On

Ray LeRoy Olsen will be allowed to continue operating his school of music at 909 103 Street as the result of a verdict handed down by city police court Tuesday by Magistrate J. Miller.

Charged with the unlawful using the building as a music studio contrary to the city zoning bylaw was dismissed by the magistrate in a written judgment.

THE TEST CASE resolved around an interpretation of section 8 of the zoning bylaw which said that no educational or philanthropic organization could be conducted in a building in the city.

SMITH, C. contended that either an educational or philanthropic institution could be established in the building. The judgment handed down by Magistrate Miller follows:

"The charge is that the building in question is unlawfully used as a music studio for violin and guitar instruction and orchestral practice, contrary to Section 8 of the Zoning bylaw of the City of Edmonton."

"For the purpose of the bylaw the city is divided into a number of districts and the type or building or use of building or ground shall be varied according to the district. The charge relates to the use of a building in an 'E' district—residential exclusive district and comes under section 8 of the bylaw. That section allows a erection and use of buildings for educational and philanthropic purposes. Under section 29 a zoning board is given fairly wide powers to vary from the provisions of previous sections. While the method of arriving at permitted buildings and uses is probably that confining I cannot say that it is not intelligible."

"ONE OF the permitted uses is 'use of an educational or philanthropic nature.' I find on the evidence that the building is used for an educational or philanthropic purpose."

It was raised in this case the question of the interpretation of the bylaw. The prosecution argues the words should be given their ordinary grammatical sense and that it must be an institution of an educational or philanthropic nature. The defence reply that the word 'or' should be interpreted as 'or'. To arrive at the true meaning I think I should examine 1. To arrive at the true meaning of the words as collected in the section, 2, enacting sections 4 and 4, the whole bylaw.

"IN THESE SECTIONS I did not notice any such groupings with the use of the word 'or'. Where there is a grouping of usage in sections and the word 'and' is used, I am of the opinion the intention could not have been to require all the usages of use group. I think in interpreting the meaning of these permitted groups usage, it would be to correct to substitute the word 'or' for the word 'and'."

"THE WORD 'INSTITUTION' has given me some difficulty to interpret. Should it be given the meaning as often applied to something set up or established to provide a service to members of the public who may avail themselves of it or a more restricted one such as might be applied to a body of citizens forming an organization for literary scientific or other purpose? I think I should give it the latter meaning."

"In my opinion the use of the building in question as shown by the evidence is a permitted one. Having arrived at this conclusion I do not have to deal with other points raised."

At Annual Meet

Church Groups Submit Reports

At Annual Meet

The Rev. E. H. Birdsall

A successful year, with every organization stronger, and increased contributions to the work of the church elsewhere in Canada and overseas, was indicated in a summary of reports given at the annual congregational meeting of Central United Church held Monday.

THE FOLLOWING, all of whom served on the board of stewards for three years, were re-elected: J. T. Farnham, H. B. Bessie and Dan Stewart; new members on the board of stewards are: Emil Greer, L. H. Fitzsimmons, Howard Hall and Mrs. P. Criswick.

THE FOLLOWING, nominated as elders, were elected to the Board of Stewards: The Rev. H. C. Taylor, John Wilson, W. MacDonald and J. T. McCracken.

DURING THE MEETING, Mrs. Ernest Wilson sang, accompanied by Peter Delicic, organist of the church. The meeting closed with a half hour of social fellowship and refreshments served by the Evening Auxiliary. Rev. E. H. Birdsall is the minister.

Financial statement that receipts for the year just ended were $6,000, a little more than $400 above receipts for 1944, which totaled $5,602, but expenses for the year were also increased, from $5,421 in 1944 to $6,000 in 1945.

THIS LEAVES a cash surplus for the year's operations of more than $16 as compared to a cash surplus for the year of 1944 of $10.

Claim Veteran Is More Mature In "U" Studies

Veteran students at the University of Alberta are showing a maturity judgment and a deeper interest in their work than their brothers-in-learning who have entered that institution directly from high schools, according to a report made Tuesday by Dr. J. H. Strickland to a rehabilitation conference which met in Edmonton in an effort to coordinate the work of the provincial and federal agencies dealing with the care of the ex-serviceman to civilian life.

THE VETERAN is more appreciative of the value of an education and that appreciation is reflected in the manner in which he approaches his work, Dr. Strickland said.

Blonde, Welsh-Born Irish Girl, Wins Coveted Role of "Amber"

Blonde Peggy Cummins, 19, will play the lead in the film version of "Forever Amber."

Amber's Pal

Glenn Langan, above, has won the coveted role of Capt. Rex Morgan in the forthcoming movie of "Forever Amber." Unknown to screen audiences, Langan has been featured in such Broadway stage hits as "Johnny Belinda" and "A Kiss for Cinderella."

Death Marcher

Airliner Crashes in Connecticut

The charred bulk of an Eastern Air Lines plane is searched for seared bodies of 16 persons killed in crash two and one-half miles from Cheshire, Conn. The plane caught fire in flight.

Welsh-born of Irish parents, Peggy has a prized role comparable in importance to the roles of Vivien Leigh in "Gone With the Wind" and Jennifer Jones in "The Song of Bernadette." She has a small, elfin face and appears less like the uninhibited Amber than Alice in Wonderland, whom she played in England. She started her stage career at 7.

Canadian Girls Nurse Movie Stars' Babies

HEDY LAMARR

DOROTHY LAMOUR

A new way of getting to Hollywood, and a very attractive one, too, has been successfully employed by two Toronto, Ont., sisters, who play the real-life role of nursemaid in the film capital. Frances and Dorothy Milner, twin Mothercraft nurses, look after the offspring of two of the most beautiful women in pictures, Hedy Lamarr and Dorothy Lamour. Frances was the first to go to Hollywood. She read Hedy was anticipating an arrival so she wrote a long letter, with credentials, offering assistance. After she was established in the colony, she linked up similar position for sister Dorothy.

Discharged GI Views New Triplets

Daddy is dazed as he views the three latest additions to his family. He is Pasquale Marmo, discharged veteran of Brooklyn, with three nurses displaying the triplets just born to the Marmo family in New York. His cigar has lost its jaunty angle.

What Will This Year of 1946 Bring to India and Its Millions?

In India where the wealthy can afford $250,000 for a hat like this, a British parliamentary mission, recently, demanded action now, not 200 years from now.

India's caste system, breeder of these contrasts—the fabulous palace and the man doomed to a life of begging—is a big stumbling block in India's independence. One force is the movement started by Subhas Chandra Bose, anti-British revolutionary, now believed dead. His cry of violence, "On to Delhi," is heard more and more.

The New Kaiser Automobile

Just unveiled is the new Kaiser automobile, above, low-priced companion of the Frazer, to be manufactured by the recently formed Kaiser-Frazer Corp. Named for famed wartime shipbuilder, Henry J. Kaiser, the six-cylinder car is full size, seats six passengers, is light weight, has 117-inch wheelbase and is described as the first American car in the low-priced field with front wheel drive. Other features include independent "torsionetic" (spiral) suspension" on all four wheels and unique "monocoque" body.

Bose's ideology has fired a section of the young people. But oldtimers like this servant still cling to the Gandhi philosophy of non-violence.

"Dream Wac" to Get Film Test

"Dream" W.A.C., who was spied one day by a producer in Washington's Pentagon building, and couldn't be located again for a month, is Ms. Jeanne Swann. Now she will have screen test.
